The Aldermen Discuss the Cemetery Ordinance.

THE JUDGES' BILLS VETOED

Mayor Thornton Thought Them Excessive—His Veto Sustained by the Council—They Will Get Six Dollars.

The council met last night at the usual hour, Alderman Collins being the only absentee. The special order for the meeting, the cemetery ordinance, was taken up and read by the clerk. It provides for the appointment of a superintendent by the mayor, with the approval of the council, who shall have complete control of the cemetery under the regulations of the ordinance. It is required that no burials be made without first securing permits from the health officer or member of the board of health. The ornamentation and method of improvement of lots is also regulated. For digging graves a charge of $5 or $10 is made. Lots are to be sold at $25, $20 and $15, according to location. A charge of $5 is to be made for single graves.

Walker objected to that section of the ordinance which prohibited the placing of iron vases and seats on the lots without previously securing the consent of the superintendent. It gave the superintendent, he thought, too arbitrary power.

City Clerk O'Leary explained that its purpose was to prevent the lumbering up of the ground and for the purpose of securing harmony in ornamentation.

Walker thought that it was not right to sell a lot to a person and then dictate just how it should be beautified. He thought that the superintendent was given too arbitrary power. It would be a hardship for any one to get buried there.

Shovlin differed with Mr. Walker. The cemetery had already cost the city about $2,000 and there should be a man to look after it. Without wishing to dictate he recommended Mr. Hogan, who lived near the cemetery, as a suitable person for the position. He was heartily in favor of the ordinance as it stood.

Walker said that Mr. Shovlin was shooting a little wild. He had not objected to anything in the ordinance but the arbitrary power conferred upon the superintendent.

City Attorney O'Leary stated that the ordinance was copied from regulations in force relative to the Butte cemetery and was similar to the regulations of all well conducted cemeteries.

Walker retorted that that was no reason why members of the council should not be permitted to express their ideas on the subject. Dalton said he thought that the regulations were too complicated, and wanted to strike out the whole section, as also did Lappin.

Mayor Thornton called attention to the hardship which would be forced upon poor people if iron fences or stone curbing only were permitted.

Walker said he heartily agreed with the mayor. He thought that purchasers should not be hampered and should have the right to beautify their lots as they pleased.

Upon a motion by Walker the ordinance was amended so as to permit the erection of a fence, coping or railing not to exceed three feet and no vase or seat to be allowed on the lots otherwise than as prescribed by the superintendent through the council.

The remaining sections of the ordinance were read without debate. An attempt was made to recommit the bill to the judiciary committee, but it was finally deferred and will come up at the next meeting of the council Monday evening.

City Engineer McDonald then asked the council concerning the name that would be given the new cemetery. That matter was also laid over until the next meeting.

The clerk read the mayor's veto giving his reasons for not signing the ordinance. He said that the ordinance was based on his opinion that the payment was in excess of services rendered. He was in favor of a liberal compensation, but not to the extent of that voted. The veto was sustained by a vote of 4 to 2. Dalton, Shovlin, Shovlin and Walker voting aye; Murray and Walker no; while Lappin did not vote. Collins was absent.

An animated discussion followed relative to the compensation which should be allowed. The city attorney was of the opinion that according to the codes only $3 a day could be allowed. He contended a day as meaning from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. A motion to allow clerks and judges two days at that rate prevailed and the council adjourned.

The Indiana Loses a Shell.

New York, April 15.—The battleship Indiana, which lies anchored off Tompkinsville, lost one of her torpedoes shells on the morning of the 14th, while at target practice. The torpedo shell was a blank one, 18 feet long, and was aimed at an imaginary target 500 yards distant from the battleship. The mechanism of the shell got out of order and the practice crew was unable to find it. The torpedo shell cost $2,500, and several boat crews from the Indiana have searched the waters of the upper and lower bay endeavoring to locate it, but so far without success.

This is the annual house cleaning season, and the good wives are hard at work. New carpets, curtains and pieces of furniture are being put in and old carpets are receiving an overhauling and a good beating, furniture being repaired and polished and other improvements are noticeable in many homes. This is a time when the old man feels out of place and humor.

Judge Brantley is due here next Monday, the 19th, when the receiver of the Golden Scepter company is cited to appear in answer to liens filed against the company. A FRIEND INDEED.

He Attempts to Save the Life of a Companion Who Had Once Saved His.

Crawfordsville, Ind., April 15.—Richard Bennett lost his life last evening in a well filled with black dam. Edward Reynolds, his companion, may also die through the injuries he received in trying to rescue him. Bennett once saved Reynolds from drowning and it was no fault of the latter that he did not repay the debt. The men were digging a well and had reached a depth of 50 feet. They returned after dinner to resume work and Bennett was first to go down. Half way to the bottom he was overcome and fell out of the bucket. Reynolds knew that the trouble was due to foul gas, but without hesitation he started down to the rescue. He fainted and fell. Reynolds recovered consciousness and a rope was lowered, but he refused to accept the chance of escape. Instead he attached the rope to Bennett and the dead body was dragged out. Reynolds had just life enough left to tie the rope about himself when it was next lowered, and he was hauled out insensible and almost dead. The chances are against his recovery.

Hammond Predicts No War.

London, April 15.—John Hays Hammond, the American engineer and formerly member of the Johannesburg reform committee, who arrived here to-day from South Africa, says that while affairs at Johannesburg were very unsettled over a discussion of politics, he did not think an outbreak of war between Great Britain and the Transvaal was likely to occur in the near future.

A Leadville Till Tapped.

Leadville, Col., April 15.—A masked robber entered the saloon of Michael Farrell this evening and, covering the barkeepers with a revolver, took from the till several hundred dollars. The robber is still at large.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Durban, Natal, April 15.—The British cruiser Raccoon, which left Capetown on Feb. 12 under sealed orders, arrived unexpectedly during the night with six other British warships. Two more vessels of the British fleet are expected to-night. The object of this naval demonstration is not known here.

Benton Harbor, April 15.—The steamer Frank Woods, which left Milwaukee at 8 o'clock last night, had not arrived here up to 2 o'clock this afternoon. Officers of the Graham & Morton line, to which the Woods belongs, are becoming alarmed.

Capetown, April 15.—In the house of assembly to-day a motion was introduced relating upon the disastrous and lasting effects that hostilities among Europeans and Africans would produce and inviting the house to adopt a policy of moderation and conciliation in the settlement of differences and in the interpretation of treaties of conventions.

Frankfort, Ky., April 15.—All members were present at to-day's session. The vote stood: Hunter 58, Blackburn 42, Martin 11, Boyle 6, Stone 1; necessary to a choice, 60. Three ballots were taken before the republicans would move an adjournment. The last two were copies of the first.

Paterson, N. J., April 15.—Having been denied an increase of wages 500 employees of the Kearney Foot File works struck to-day.

Omaha, April 15.—During the night the river raised two inches, but is stationary now at Omaha and falling above. The work at the dykes during the night held back the flood and this morning it seems the gravest danger has passed.

Washington, April 15.—The president today appointed the board of visitors to the United States Military academy as follows: George F. Evans of Portland, Me.; Colonel James E. Fleming of Newark, N. J.; L. W. Hall of Harrisburg, Pa.; W. H. Upson of Akron, Ohio; F. B. Smedburgh of San Francisco.
